I ^{like to} would discuss with you the very important question: what do different countries give to the world? Nowadays it is an important problem and a lot of people try to find answer on this question.

Countries which are situated in the Asia-part of our Earth give us the food. For example: From China we can get ~~the~~ rice, from India tea. North countries provide the world with meat. South countries give us vegetables and fruits.

What about natural resources? Russia is very rich with oil, gas, gold, silver and other precious metals. All countries of our world use Russian resources.

Cultural activities we can get from every country. Because the history of our world is very interesting and if you start to travel you will get a lot of new cultural information. But I suppose the most cultural activities you can find in Russia, Europe and USA. From my life experience I know that ~~in there are~~ ^{there are} a lot of museums in Moscow, Saint-Petersburg, Cyprus, Croatia, Italy.

In conclusion I can say that every country of our world is very important. We get all products from different parts of the Earth. And everybody ought to care their resources as material as well.
